The proof is in the numbers. Just ask John and Andrea Agnew, owners of Breeze Thru Express Car Wash...

The numbers don't lie

In its second month of operation, the Breeze Thru Express Car Wash did something very unexpected... it cleaned an estimated 18,560 cars. No small feat considering the small town of Fort Collins, Colorado already has numerous tunnel, self-serve and automatic washes to serve its population of just over 130,000.

A strong partnership...

For these long time self-serve and automatic wash owners, the path to success began by embracing the express wash trend, backed by their trusted distributor for 15 years, Hi-Performance Wash Systems. From the initial recommendation to use MacNeil equipment to the ongoing operational support, John and Andrea Agnew have never looked back.

Delivers big results...

MacNeil continues to raise the bar with unbeatable and consistently reliable solutions that are engineered for high performance and proven to handle even the most aggressive wash volumes, month after month, year after year.

And a bright future.

With results that already speak for themselves, this dynamic duo knows that an excellent future lies ahead. Their first foray into the express exterior business was an investment that broke throughput records to start and continues to set the standard for quality results.
